BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD MUSEUM
IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

In 1827, a handful of merchant capitalists and the residents of Baltimore undertook a spectacular gamble. They raised the initial funds to pursue a dream, and the American railroad was born, spawning the greatest industrial growth the world has ever known. Whether your ancestors played a part in this historic venture or not, you can make history TODAY. It is with great pleasure that we invite you to preserve the tradition of railroading as a honored member of the Society of the Iron Horse.

This landmark program offers the benefits of individual membership for life and at the same time, provides a permanent endowment for the preservation of the Museum's world class collections. All income derived from this permanent fund will be used to restore, conserve and preserve the first, the last, the best and the only, and your membership will leave a permanent legacy to future generations.

To join the Society of the Iron Horse, please fill out the application or contact the Museum by calling 410.752.2490 or email info@borail.org. You can also join by visiting our website at societymembership@borail.org.
