

My field trip to the B&O Railroad Museum

A social story presented by the B&O Railroad Museum

My class is going to the B&O Railroad Museum!
The B&O Railroad Museum has a lot of trains.

I will go to the Museum on a bus or in a car. When we arrive, we will park in the parking lot. I might have to sit on the bus and wait before entering the Museum.

I might see lots of cool trains in the parking lot, but I will not get to see them yet. I will wait until it is time to explore the Museum.

When it is time to enter the Museum, I will follow directions and stay with my group.

I will follow my group into a big room full of trains. This is the Roundhouse! There will be many people in this room, but I will stay close to my group.

I will not touch the trains or get on top of them unless an adult tells me it is safe. Most of the trains have signs to keep me safe.

I will see staff and volunteers in blue shirts and jackets. If I need help, I can ask them.

If I need to use the bathroom, I will tell an adult and they will take me.

Sometimes the Museum can be noisy. If it is too loud, an adult and I can ask someone for headphones that will make everything quiet.

If I need a break, I will tell an adult. The Museum has a special place where I can take a break.

An adult will tell me when it is time to eat lunch. When it is time to eat, my friends and I will (circle one):

- Buy food at the Museum

- Eat lunch that I brought

- Go home to eat

- Return to school

I might not get to do everything I want at the Museum. I will ask an adult if there is something fun I want to do.

An adult will tell me when it is time to go home. I will follow the group to exit the Museum safely.

There is a gift shop inside the Museum. I will ask an adult before my trip if there will be time to buy something. If I am allowed to buy something, I will bring my own money.

I will follow the rules and have fun at the B&O Railroad Museum. It will be a great day!
