Scope & Contents

The Hays T. Watkins Research Library and Archives is home to a large collection of railroad valuation maps. From 1915 to 1920 railroad engineers working for the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) created these detailed land maps to inventory extant railroad structures and property. These maps detail land owned by the railroad, including the right-of-way, track layout, buildings and structure locations, and other engineering details for the entire U.S. railroad system mile by mile. Almost all of the maps are ink drawn on linen, measure 25" by 54" and cover between one half mile and four miles of track. Our collection is unique because most maps were originally stored at the Mt. Clare Shops (now the site of the B&O Railroad Museum), while others were donated by former B&O employees as shops, towers, and stations closed.

Railroads represented in the collection include both those owned by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, Inc., and those who shared, leased, or owned tracks connected to the B&O's network, including:

- Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Ry. Co.
- Buffalo & Susquehanna RR
- Chicago and Eastern Illinois RR
- Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western R. R. Co
- Rural Valley Railroad
- Reynoldsville and Falls Creek RR
- Richmond Fredricksburg & Potomac
- Lakefront Dock & Railroad Terminal Co.

In February 2022, the B&O Railroad Museum completed a 5 1/2 year project to digitize this collection in order to preserve it and make it more accessible to researchers. A small number of maps remain to be digitized. The collection inventory (below) contains a list of the maps currently available.

Abstract

Collection of detailed land maps created by the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) and employees of the railroads between 1915 and 1920. Maps are 25" by 54" and cover between one half mile and four miles of track. Each map contains many engineering details which may include the layout of track, locations of buildings and bridges, geographical features such as rivers, and land ownership information.

Arrangement Note

The maps are arranged by Valuation Section as determined by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Maps are grouped together in rolls of 12-15 maps each and there are approximately 470 rolls of maps. Each roll may contain one single section, part of a section or multiple sections. This was all based on the Valuation Section(s) being worked on.

Biographical or Historical Information

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) was a regulatory agency in the United States created by the Interstate Commerce Act of 1887. The agency's original purpose was to regulate railroads (and later trucking) to ensure fair rates, to eliminate rate discrimination, and to regulate other aspects of common carriers, including interstate bus lines and telephone companies. Congress expanded ICC authority to regulate other modes of commerce beginning in 1906. Throughout the 20th century, several of ICC's authorities were transferred to other federal agencies. The ICC was abolished in 1995, and its remaining functions were transferred to the Surface Transportation Board.

The Valuation Act of 1913 required the ICC to organize a Bureau of Valuation that would assess the value of railroad property. This information would be used to set rates. The Esch-Cummins Act of 1920 expanded the ICC's rate-setting responsibilities, and the agency in turn required updated valuation data from the railroads. The enlarged process led to a major increase in ICC staff, and the valuations continued for almost 20 years.
